

Appendix 1 – List of Suppliers & Sources

The Milestone Society does not endorse any specific supplier. The lists are not comprehensive and similar suppliers may be found in your area.

A. Local Authority Officials

Most Local Authorities have a web site and this generally lists the main officials.

- A list of the names and contact details of Secretaries to the Parish Councils can be found on most District Council web sites. Alternatively you will often find a list of the key contacts in the local library.
- The Conservation Officer will normally be a District Council Official. The name of the department will vary but addressing letters to The Conservation Officer, Planning and Environment, will generally find the right person.
- Highways are generally a County function but responsibility at a local level probably lies with an Area Highways Engineer who will be responsible for part of the County. Some Counties work through Highways Partnerships – joint activities with one of the main engineering support companies. Trunk Roads are dealt with by the Highways Agency – details of local responsibilities are found on their web site (www.highways.gov.uk)
